

ALLIED

Health Professions Week

Photo by Stu Jenks

Labyrinth 'lb-rnth'

NOUN:

An intricate structure of interconnecting passages through which it is difficult to find one's way; a maze

Allied health offers an excellent career path leading you through the labyrinth of life!

ALLIED HEALTH: WHERE THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND
HUMANITIES COME TOGETHER

Website information:
www.healthpronet.org

E-mail:
Information@healthpronet.org

November 5–11, 2006

Celebrate Allied Health Professions Week!

Did you know?

- The top 30 fastest growing jobs in the U.S. predicted through 2010 are in allied health occupations.
- There are about 200 recognized allied health professions and allied health professionals make up about 60% of the health-care workforce.
- Allied health professionals can choose careers that involve:
 - Technology—a place for skilled use of high tech equipment, laboratory work and procedures
 - Arts—a place for using the arts in health care to aid healing and health promotion
 - Humanities and Social Sciences—a place for helping and teaching patients
 - Direct care of patients—a place for compassion and caring individuals

Choose Allied Health...

The Right Choice

For America

For Quality Healthcare

For Your Career!